

Tasmanian Government schools

Jurisdiction specific comments

- School income pertains to funding received therefore not all this income has passed through school bank accounts. The majority of the income used to support the operation of schools is held centrally to pay for school costs such as teacher salaries and wages.
- This information has been amalgamated from a variety of sources including payroll data, central financial ledgers and school financial system data.
- Where a school incorporates a kindergarten these costs have been reflected in school funds as it has not been possible to separate these funds from other school funding.
- Fees charges and parental contributions include parental payments for before and after school care, excursions, tours, camps and activities. In some cases this forms a significant component of these categories especially where overseas excursions have occurred. Processes applied to the 2010 collection of this information will seek to improve the accuracy of these categories.
- Recurrent funding from the Australian Government is allocated based on how each program provides benefits to students.
- The majority of funds are provided through Commonwealth Specific Purpose Payments to the State and benefit all students and have been applied to each school based on enrolments.
- Other Australian Government program funding has been applied to schools based on the most appropriate methodology. For example, where programs are targeted at a particular group of schools, such as those in low socio-economic areas, funding is allocated based on each schools share of enrolments.
- Tasmanian schools are not permitted to borrow money so new school loans will be zero for each school.
- A significant number of capital projects in 2009 occur over multiple years. The capital expenditure reflects actual expenditure for 2009 and not the overall project expenditure.
